Bulk Buying of Local Produce and other foods for Winter Storage

For those of you who are wanting to store and stock up on some food items for the winter and beyond, like local organic produce, beans, grains and more, consider ordering from Food Connects, a local food hub network located in Brattleboro. My farm, Fertile Fields Farm, has direct experience selling to them and occasionally buying. The prices are more on the wholesale side and they often sell larger quantities than one person can use since they are often selling to institutions and stores. However, individuals and groups can purchase any item. Some items are retail and are in smaller quantities. Most, if not all of the produce is locally grown and will sell out soon since the farming season is winding down. Much of the produce on sale now are storage crops, which means they will last for the winter under the right temperature and humidity conditions. See this link for that info.

<https://www.johnnyseeds.com/growers-library/tools-supplies/harvesting-handling-storage/storage-crops.html>

A group could organize and share a purchase to divide up. For good storage vegetables, I suggest pie, pumpkins, winter squash, carrots, beets, turnips, sweet potatoes, garlic, onions, regular, potatoes, cabbage and leeks. You can get more perishable vegetables too and either ferment, freeze or can them. If someone steps up to coordinate that person would invite others to review the list of available products and then collate them and see where people overlap in their desired purchases to make a group buy. If someone wants to buy but does not have the right storage then maybe someone with more space can store it for them. Here is the link to Food Connects.

Usually the order can either be picked up in Brattleboro or they do deliveries to Keene for orders over their minimum, which I think is $150.

Ask Gov. Sununu To Call Legislature Into Special Session With New OSHA Rules Slated for Jan. 4, The Legislature Must Meet to Legally Defend NH Workers

OSHA has issued its Emergency Temporary Standard for COVID-19 vaccination and testing for all employers with 100 employees or more. Jab or no job: the deadline for 84 million employees is January 4! You can read more about the new rules at the following link:
<https://www.osha.gov/coronavirus/ets2>

Please contact Governor Sununu and ask him to call a special session of the Legislature.

The House has two bills that can help:

1. A bill to prohibit state agencies from aiding in enforcement of the mandates.
2. A bill to standardize exemptions for religious, medical, and conscientious reasons so anyone can be exempt. An employee would submit a signed written statement of which exemption they are claiming, and the employer must grant it, period.

The Legislature does not have the two-thirds vote needed, because of its slim Republican majority, to call itself into Special Session, but the Governor has the Constitutional authority to call the Legislature into session himself, and we think he should.

Please contact Gov. Sununu today and ask him to protect New Hampshire workers' freedom to choose their own medical interventions and protect their bodily autonomy, particularly when their religious beliefs are conflicting with national policy.

Here's how to get in touch with the governor:

THE LEGISLATURE WANTS TO HEAR FROM YOU!

This coming Monday, Nov. 8 at 9 a.m., the Legislature will be holding a public hearing in Representatives Hall at the State House relative to medical interventions, including immunization. This is a wonderful opportunity for you to attend and speak, to have your voice heard, and to explain to a committee of lawmakers your stories relative to vaccinations, mandates, or any other medical interventions, especially relative to your employment. The committee will be using your public input to formulate recommendations for upcoming legislation. We believe this is the event to attend to ensure your constructive, passionate testimony will help advance the cause of liberty. The Legislature is the government body in New Hampshire with the most power, and it is also the most accessible to the people. When the Legislature hears from the people in large numbers, it always responds accordingly.

We know that in order to make this hearing effective, we need to show up in large numbers and we also need to practice proper decorum by signing up to speak and then using the time allotted to get a concise and strong message across. Please bring facts, stories, and evidence to support what you have to say, and bring enough copies to submit to the committee for its report.

ONGOING EVENTS

Weekly Keene Protest to Move to Area Towns

We've decided to take our protest (for several weeks at the hospital rotary) to different towns around the Monadnock Area so that more people get to see and understand that there are folks standing for a different narrative. Next Thursday, 11/11, we're going to be at the Troy circle from 3:30-5PM. Stay tuned for new town TBA each week. Anyone wanting to carpool from Keene please contact me.

If you are in a different area of the state, please consider starting a protest regularly in a town near you. Please contact me if you'd like help getting others there.

Stand Up for Medical Freedom on Fridays, 4-6pm

On the public sidewalks outside Mount Wachusett Community College, 444 Green Street, Gardner, MA 01440 (on Green Street between Heywood Hospital and the public golf course). Bring signs, bring the flag or just bring yourself. All are welcome (to peacefully protest mandates). Coercion Is Not Consent. Stop the Mandates. We the People. Organized by Kate, "The Ornery Nurse."

A novel best-case scenario cost-benefit analysis showed very conservatively that there are five times the number of deaths attributable to each inoculation vs those attributable to COVID-19 in the most vulnerable 65+ demographic. The risk of death from COVID-19 decreases drastically as age decreases, and the longer-term effects of the inoculations on lower age groups will increase their risk-benefit ratio, perhaps substantially.

The Emperor Has No Clothes: Finding the Courage to Break the Spell

Long but important article on WHY WE NEED EVERYONE TO STAND UP. Excerpt:

"What about those who refuse to be tamed, at any cost, on principle? A victim that will not bear even the slightest infringement upon his freedom is not worth preying upon. This "live free or die" attitude changes the tyrant's own risk-reward calculus because there is no reward to be obtained from a horse that will never take a bridle, no matter the cost, and if the tyrant's predatory behaviour runs an intolerably high risk of being repaid with a hoof smashing through the front of their skull."

1/2 This is an artefact of the definition CDC uses for "fully vaccinated". According to their bizarre definition, the "fully vaccinated" are people who have survived the first dose, received the second dose and survived for two weeks after the second dose.
