This chart shows total US hospital capacity split into two categories:

- Beds Used (blue area)
- Bed staffed but unused (yellow area)
- CoV2 hospitalization census (green line shown on a different Y axis)

Notice Staffed Beds and Beds Used are both low points for all of 2021.

England NHS Hospital Data, reported 28 December.

- ◆ 17.4% of new “COVID” hospitalizations = TRUE CASES.
- ◆ 82.6% = other reasons, incidentally testing positive.

Hospitalization breakdowns in the U.S. is maddeningly opaque, but this English data may give a big hint on ratio.

It's January 1st. Time to check in on Uttar Pradesh, India, population 204.2 million. Are they still doing ok, or has their treatment protocol we can't talk about finally let them down?

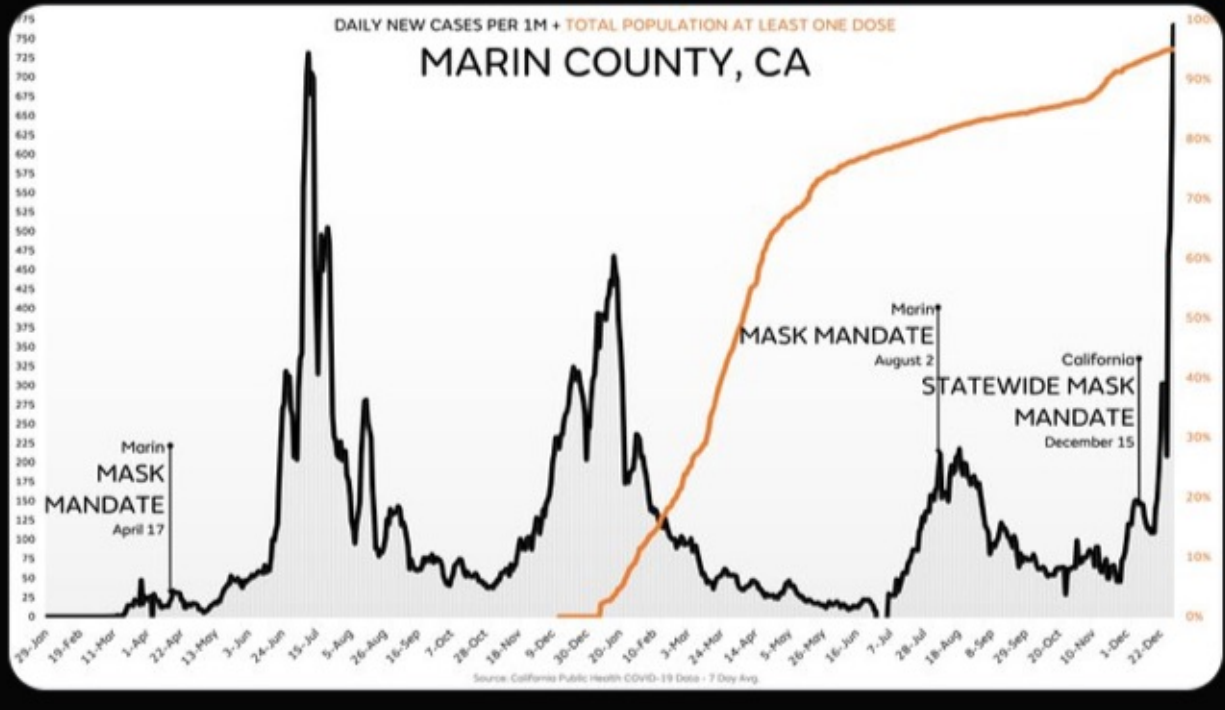

Oh looky there. Six months on...

IM @ianmSC · Jan 1

Well, it's official, the most heavily vaccinated large US county has set a new high in cases, even with an active mask mandate

I don't know how many more times this needs to happen before politicians, experts and the media acknowledge reality and end the pointless restrictions

How definitions influence perceptions of Covid lethality, and vaccine safety & effectiveness

Fred, who has no Covid symptoms, tests positive in a PCR test for work. He doesn't go on to develop any symptoms, but 13 days later is critically injured in a car crash and dies 2 weeks after being taken to hospital.

Fred is classified as a Covid case, a Covid hospital admission and a Covid death

Jane gets a Covid vaccine and 13 days later tests PCR positive with symptomatic Covid.

Jane is classified as an unvaccinated Covid case

Peter gets a Covid vaccine and dies the next day from an adverse reaction to it.

Peter is classified as an unvaccinated death

Truth: There are cities, states, regions, countries who are living fulfilling, normal, huggable lives, none of this obsessiveness.

If you are 40 years old you have ~40 years remaining. Two years living in fear and restriction is already 5% of that life on earth. And counting...
