The 3 Amigas Go to Washington

3 ladies from our community went to the Jan 24 event... here are their stories:

Ruthellen's Take

It was an honor and privilege to be able to attend the "Defeat The Mandate March" in Washington DC., on Sunday, January 23, 2022.

To be able to stand firmly planted for truth and freedom along the side of thousands upon thousands of people with the same intent sets things in motion that cannot be denied. It builds up courage and shores up faith. It stokes the fire for liberation by bringing small, individual flames of justice together to make a brighter light that cannot be hidden or unseen. It powerfully ignites and inspires giving hope and vision to continue on in the pursuit of independence over tyranny.

At one point in time, I broke away from the chanting crowd and incredible, well-versed speakers from Del Bigtree, Robert F. Kennedy Jr., to mRNA-technology inventor Dr. Robert W. Malone. I walked up and down from the Lincoln Memorial to the Washington Monument to David's Tent to the Capitol Building praying and making verbal declarations over the city and our country.

As I walked and looked around, the governmental area seemed shrouded with falseness and oppression. It was as if what had been truth had become corrupted with a facade or house of cards built upon lies, deceit, injustice, control and propaganda. The life force of the city was sucked dry and was dying. A perfect atmosphere for the flame of revival and revolution to quickly set ablaze like a wild fire taking over purifying and purging... restoring.

And as I walked back towards the crowds I could see the passion for America, One Nation under God, Indivisible, for Liberty and Justice for All fanning the flames of the proverbial bonfire. The sparks I saw there I see in your eyes, in your actions, in your voices, in your stances - a wildfire that does not burn out of control but, with conviction, justice, righteousness, defending our future, our children and their children's children's future.

The wind of change is blowing upon our convictions giving life to the inferno of freedom and liberty that is building and it will prevail. United we stand...

Mary's Take

Ruthellen, Melissa and I attended the "Defeat the Mandates" march in DC last Saturday. It was just awesome to be there. Although we missed the march itself, we made it in time for all the speakers. They were moving and inspiring. My favorites were Del Bigtree, music by Five Times August, and JP sears was the emcee!! My favorite comment was the observation that the event had Christian, Jewish and Muslim speakers who came together agreeing on the one topic of ending the mandates. The crowd was peaceful, yet lively. We met women a few women who flew by themselves just to attend. It appears all corners of the country were represented including Illinois, Florida, Wisconsin, Texas, Michigan and Ohio just to mention the ones I spoke with. Of course, there were a myriad of vendors for t-shirts, hats, flags and other paraphernalia as well as a plethora of cards and free religious books being handed out. For January, the weather was pretty mild in the mid to high 30's though it got cloudy and cooler as the day went on.

Melissa's take coming soon...

Suing Against Surety Bonds

Sharing this info sent to me by a few folks:

Notable strategy for ending tyranny in your school districts. A single mother employed this strategy and it worked big time.

Every public official has a surety bond. This mother got a hold of the bond and filed a claim against the superintendent of the school. Because she listed all of the illegal activities in the claim they couldn't fight back against it.

All state and federal funding stopped until the claim was resolved. In her claim she listed all the laws being broken by pushing their restrictions and because of this the school had to lift the mandates and she effectively freed her school district.

This might be a game changer.
