Remembrance, For the Good of All: an invocation of the elements

New 5-track album by Aubrey Marcus, Vylana et al: an invocation of the elements

<https://open.spotify.com/album/045E9Yd145U4nsCA9tBTj>

Aubrey writes:

As the clock rolls past 1:00AM, I am kept awake by the growing realization that I have spent my life in gradations of a metaverse... with occasional moments of what I would call Real Life.

This is the irony of the Metaverse; We are already in it. And it's not because we are in a simulation. It is that our mind makes a simulation out of life. The Metaverse is a place in the mind, inescapably trapped in the story of time. It is abiding in some past regret, some historical comparison, or a future fantasy.

Real life, aka the Universe, can only be actually experienced in the heart...The place beyond time, because the true heart is unborn and undying. Real Life only happens in the Big Now. Otherwise, it's just a video game version that we are watching on the screen of our own projections.

I am not sad about this realization. Okay, I'm a little sad. But I'm not devastated because I HAVE tasted a lot of Real Life—in amazing conversations, in countless medicine journeys, ecstatic dances, sunsets with good cigars, good wine, good friends, and a great wife. And sex! Can't forget sex.

The truth is that we crave Real Life more than anything. But if we don't have the keys to access Real Life, we will be forever relegated to some loca of the Metaverse. And so, no wonder the digital version of the Metaverse is alluring. It is in resonance with the way we are already living. It just has simpler rules and fewer consequences.

I believe it is time to remember our birth rite—to live in Real Life. The future of our civilization, living in harmony with Earth, depends on it.

Aaron Kheriaty, MD

Finally got the unredacted version of this FoIA'd document. Three months after the release of the vaccine Pfizer had to hire 600 additional full-time employees, with a plan to hire 1800 total, just to process the flood of adverse events reported.

- Among adverse event reports received into the Pfizer safety database during the cumulative period, only those having a complete workflow cycle in the safety database (meaning they progressed to Distribution or Closed workflow status) are included in the monthly SMSR. This approach prevents the inclusion of cases that are not fully processed hence not accurately reflecting final information. Due to the large numbers of spontaneous adverse event reports received for the product, the MAH has prioritised the processing of serious cases, in order to meet expedited regulatory reporting timelines and ensure these reports are available for signal detection and evaluation activity. The increased volume of reports has not impacted case processing for serious reports, and compliance metrics continue to be monitored weekly with prompt action taken as needed to maintain compliance with expedited reporting obligations. Non-serious cases are entered into the safety database no later than 4 calendar days from receipt. Entrance into the database includes the coding of all adverse events; this allow for a manual review of events being received but may not include immediate case processing to completion. Non-serious cases are processed as soon as possible and no later than 90 days from receipt. Pfizer has also taken a multiple actions to help alleviate the large increase of adverse event reports. This includes significant technology enhancements, and process and workflow solutions, as well as increasing the number of data entry and case processing colleagues. To date, Pfizer has onboarded approximately 600 additional full-time employees (FTEs). More are joining each month with an expected total of more than 1,800 additional resources by the end of June 2021.

"The Great Invitation" podcast: How to Be in the World, But Not of It, While in the Midst of Mayhem

Paul Kervick and John-Michael Dumais return for another deep dive on how we can, as conscious divine beings, respond to the globalist totalitarian agenda that is being rolled out in our modern world. We attempt to tackle such questions as: What is our responsibility towards our fellow humans when we see violence happening, especially when such actions are agreed to by the recipients of violence because of a controlled media narrative? How do we avoid contributing to the polarization while at the same time avoiding the "metaphysical override" that frames everything as "love and light"? How can we be maximally present to the suffering of others while maintaining our connection to the higher story of what's possible as we move through the current local and global dilemmas? We discuss the emerging opportunities of advancing the consciousness of "interbeing" and the need to come together in a new way to create new systems as the old systems crumble.
