

Newsletter - Friday July 22, 2022

Welcome to our Friday Edition with curated news of the day, featuring the customary collection of plandemic, jab, and techno-fascist news. :-) But today I want to focus on the indomitable human spirit which shows up as evergreen inventiveness -- in this case, relating to alternative ways to access energy. From homemade biodigesters, cookers that harness the sun, and poop-to-energy tech, to the emergence of long-suppressed cold fusion, out-of-the-box engineers have long been working on freeing humanity from its wage-slave bondage. At the far end of these explorations are free (over unity) energy devices. A good overview of this history can be learned from Tom Valone, who worked in the US Patents and Trademarks Office (where nearly 6,000 patents have been "secretized") only to be fired for trying to set up a conference on cold fusion back in the '90s; watch him in this recent interview: A Century of Suppressed Electrotherapy, Exotic Propulsion & Free Energy Technologies: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=C9k7UMb2Y60>. Right now, it's a race between the dark elites trying to control humanity, and the possibility of freeing humanity from the control fear-and-control matrix and ushering in a new era of human health, ingenuity and blossoming. Please find resources on these topics in various sections below.

This coming Monday's 1pm Zoom: FDA trying again to End Supplements. Becky Montrone will share the latest efforts of Big Pharma to trample on our health rights, and discuss actions we can take.

Last Monday's Zoom: Melanie Neily talked about PRENDA and homeschooling options for folks anywhere in NH. The state provides $3400 per student to pay for Guides (ie teachers) to work with up to 10 students per microschool in a part-time mixed-age format. There is a lot of opportunity for parents to design the activities students partake in. In some ways it is more akin to unschooling, with a focus on collaboration and creative projects. The UpBeat

Local Story of “Paying it Forward” (literally)

A friend and I were accustomed to running up to Swanzey, NH on a weekly basis to partake of the Hyperbaric Chamber for a double session to improve our health and well being. My friend had prostate cancer and now is dealing with bone cancer, but thank God is the cancer is not metastasizing because of these weekly trips. As for me, I was benefiting from at least the strengthening my immune system. That’s a big plus during all the Covid fears and non-sense.

On the way back to MA we would stop at Mr. Mike's (intersection of Routes 12 and 119) to get coffee and from time to time, plus a couple of egg and cheese wraps to enjoy as a late breakfast. On several occasions we had the fortunate experience of finding ourselves at the window to pay for our order only to discover that the person in front of us paid for my coffee (my friend didn't drink coffee). I couldn't forget on one occasion the waitress at the window indicated that they were witnessing an exceptional number of people interested in "paying it forward".....by the time we got there around 12:30 pm we were told 24 drive-through customers were "paying it forward" that morning and so we added ourselves into the mix. How cool was that? As we learned, this was not an uncommon phenomenon at this particular DD, but to hear about 24 customers engaging in passing on a blessing was pushing old records. Very Cool 😊 Indeed.

andemic has led people to wear face masks daily in public. Although the use of face masks against viral transmission has been extensively studied, there is still concern on potential hygiene issues due to bacteria and fungi attaching to the inner surface of masks. We aimed to (1) quantify and identify the bacteria and fungi attaching to the inner surface of masks and (2) determine whether the mask-attached microbes could be associated with the masks and individual lifestyles. We surveyed 109 volunteers on their mask usage, and cultured bacteria and fungi from either the face-side or the outer-side of the masks. Bacterial colony numbers were greater on the face-side than the outer-side, while fungal numbers were fewer on the face-side than the outer-side. A statistically significant increase in the fungal colony numbers but not the bacterial colony numbers was observed. Identified microbes were non-pathogenic in humans: Staphylococcus aureus, Staphylococcus saprophyticus, Aspergillus, and Microsporum. We suggest that mask-attached microbes with the transportation methods or gastrointestinal transmission. Immunocompromised people should avoid repeated use of masks.
