

Newsletter - Friday August 12 2022

Welcome to our Friday Edition with curated news of the day. The "big news" today is that the CDC now seems to be saying that in regards to COVID-19, life can go back to normal. Read all about it below. Memes at the bottom.

Monday's zoom discussion began with a review of enhanced efforts at censorship by social media companies that are deplatforming key doctors and whistleblowers on the basis of false "fact checks," Ukraine funds being used to identify "information terrorists," and even the UN starting a campaign against "conspiracy theories." On the upside, some lawsuits are pushing back on this. We also discussed the recently passed Inflation Reduction Act, which more than doubles the size of the IRS and wastes more money on so-called climate change mitigation, as well as supply chain disruptions already being seen here in NH, and more.

Watch the zoom here:

I'm reading a wonderful book for those who want to raise uncoddled kids: "Unspoiled," by NYT columnist @ronlieber. It's about how to teach virtues while teaching kids how to handle money. I wish i had read it when my kids were in elementary school. Here's a gem: @LetGrow

Spoiled children tend to have four primary things in common, though they don't all have to be present at once:

- 1--They have few chores or other responsibilities,
- 2--there aren't many rules that govern their behavior or schedules,
- 3--parents and others lavish them with time and assistance, and
- 4--they have a lot of material possessions.

A 1998 academic journal article using survey data from adults who had been overindulged as children went so far as to refer to parental overindulgence of this sort as child neglect, given that it can hinder normal development.

The CDC has now ended all different treatments for vaccinated and unvaccinated people. So why in the world isn't everyone who refused the covid shot being rehired with back pay?

New COVID-19 guidance from CDC focuses on individual decisions

- Those exposed to the virus are no longer required to quarantine.
- Unvaccinated people now have the same guidance as vaccinated people.
- Students can stay in class after being exposed to the virus.
- It's no longer recommended to screen those without symptoms.

Now that @CDCgov has introduced some sanity into its quarantining, vax discrimination, and testing recommendations, now is the time for folks to push hard against local covidian policies. Local officials can no longer point to "CDC guidance" as an excuse for irrational policy.

NOT OK. CDC completely discredited natural infection immunity. It became a lever driving vaccines, mandates, disruption to livelihood, school mayhem, and civil strife. The Aug 11, 2022 CDC MMWR credits long-standing natural infection science, showing they LIED for >2 years.

I saw a posting by an immunologist saying he would be surprised if the COVID vaccines suppressed the immune system. Here's what a few of the studies have already showed (part of the presentation I give).

Vaccine Reprogramming

of Innate Immune Response

- Evidence suggests these vaccines can alter our innate immune response, actually producing tolerance to vaccines and infections.
- This study showed that the Pfizer Vaccine altered the innate immune response, producing "vaccine interference" is the potential for these vaccinated people to respond poorly to other vaccines (e.g. Influenza).

Blanchard, R. et al. The effect of COVID-19 vaccine on innate immune response. https://www.medrxiv.org/content/10.1101/2021.08.11.21261111v1

Pfizer Vaccine Reduced Innate T-Cell (Lymphocyte) Response

261 healthy individuals were given one of three doses of Pfizer UNP mRNA drug vaccine biologic.

Lymphocyte (T-cell) counts actually decreased following vaccination.

This was most pronounced during the initial vaccination.

This is too bizarre, only a few of your posts are directly readable. I know you're not posting "adult content". What's the purpose of this - wouldn't cancelling be easier?

Ruh-roh. Twitter going into mid-term election Big Brother mode. You'll get slapped on the wrist (or worse) for ~reasons~ including posting "misleading claims intended to undermine public confidence in an election."

Purge 2.0 is afoot. Do they have a leaked laptop policy now?

Civic Integrity Policy covers the most common types of harmful misleading information about elections and civic events, such as: claims about how to participate in the process like how to vote, misleading content intended to intimidate or dissuade people from participating in the election, and misleading claims intended to undermine public confidence in an election – including false information about the outcome of an election. Tweets with this content may be labeled with links to credible information in context, and Twitter will not recommend or amplify this content in areas of interest where Twitter makes recommendations. People on Twitter will see a prompt about liking or sharing labeled tweets, and in cases where there is potential for harm associated with the false or misleading claim, the Tweet may not be liked or shared to limit the spread of the misleading information.

Parents, sorry to say, you're gonna have to learn some vocabulary to be able to protect your kids when it comes to education. Let's start with PEDAGOGY. Here's what it is, and different kinds. The ones that dominate are outlined in RED. 1/

Types of Pedagogy

by teachmint@wp

Pedagogy is an academic discipline that refers to the approach that the educator applies to teach. The practice and theory of pedagogy differ greatly as they affect the social, cultural, and political contexts differently. General types of pedagogy are:

Social pedagogy: It focuses on the well-being and social development of the students. The teaching should reflect the same moral education. E.g. communication skills, social skills, kindness.

Critical pedagogy: It refers to comprehending and deconstructing various life issues and problems. It focuses on pushing the student to dig, and an attempt is made to understand their thoughts and beliefs on a certain topic.

Culturally responsive pedagogy: It helps in comprehending the cultural differences around the student and makes them understand the culturally diverse world we live in. E.g. A teacher might conduct a meeting where the students discuss their mother tongue, their ethnicity, their family traditional habits, etc.

Socratic pedagogy: It pushes the students to look for more knowledge than originally provided to them. This approach makes the student look for more sources and alternatives to discuss and find alternative solutions.

Types of Pedagogy is different from the curriculum as the latter refers to the contents to be taught and the former to the method taken to teach the same.

Imagine raising taxes in a recession to subsidize tax credits for rich people to buy electric cars, other green energy bs that will increase gas prices, making the IRS larger than the Pentagon for more audits, and looking Americans in the eye and saying this will lower inflation.

This is a Tobacco Smoke Enema Kit from the 1750s. It was used to put tobacco smoke into a patient's rectum to resuscitate drowning victims. Doubts about its credibility led to the popular phrase "blowing smoke up your arse." This tool is still used by governments.
